Summer Fair Preparations
At last week’s coffee morning parents and carers discussed ways to make our PTA Summer Fair even better than last year! It is on Saturday 29th June from 1 to 4pm, so make sure you have got the date in your diaries.
Those who attended the coffee morning wanted to remind everyone that it is run by volunteer parents and carers. All of us are members of the PTA, so we can all help out. When more of us volunteer, the Fair will be more enjoyable for everyone. The more volunteers there are, the less everyone has to do. Following the success of our ‘coffee and crafts’ mornings ahead of the Winter Fair, we will be inviting everyone to similar sessions on Thursday 13th, Friday 21st and Thursday 27th June in the lower hall. On the day itself, just half an hour helping on a stall will make all the difference.
The Fair will only be as good as the people who come along, so make sure you are inviting family, friends and neighbours. Remember that lots of people discover Heathbrook when they come to our Summer Fair.

Class Photos
Photographers are coming to take whole class photos on Monday 3rd June when we come back after half term.

Bring Your Family to University Days
University College London (UCL) are inviting children in Years 5 & 6 to visit them with their families during the summer holidays. This is a brilliant opportunity to find out more about what going to University means and includes a free lunch! They are only for children attending state school and priority will be given to those meeting an eligibility criteria. You need to register by 10am on Monday 17th June. Speak to a member of senior staff for more information.

Hessian Planters
Year 5s have been busy again creating another flower display on tyre island for everyone to enjoy in the playground. This time they have covered containers in hessian and placed them on natural hemp tables. Look out for the irises as they begin to flower after half term, surrounded by forget-me-nots that the children have been nurturing in the wildlife garden. (They are also looking after all the spring bulbs for next year.)
